An Interesting Lyceum Course Planned

Mr. Thaxton, who is in charge of the lyceum program, has secured many number's that will prove pleasing to the student body.

Early in November will be the first number in the form of a quartet. King's male quartet is said to entertain its audience royally.

Second on the list will be three distinguished soloists, known as the "Follefsen Trio." These will entertain with the piano, cello, and violin.

A moving picture which has made a great hit through out the whole country will be given to us as a lyceum number and this will be "Daddy Long Legs" with Janet Gaynor starring.

The fifth number will be of especial interest to the lovers of Mozart and Schubert. Mr. Albert Rappaport will give us an intimate evening with the two well known musicians in song and talk.

The last number for the semester has not been definitely decided upon but there is a promise of something equally as good as the ones mentioned above.

Tickets will be on sale in the Bursar's office for one dollar. Six for one! Think of it! The sale begins this week, get yours early.

Bible Study Class Elects Officers

Miss Hallie Smith's Bible Study class met in Atkinson parlor, Sunday morning, Sept. 27, for the purpose of organization. The officers elected were: Elizabeth Russell, President; Josephine Pritchett, Vice-President; and Nelle Pilkenton, Secretary and Treasurer.

The chairmen of the various committees appointed by the president of the class were: Eugenia Lawrence, membership; Helen Southwell, publicity; Dorothy Lipham, devotional; Eleanor Fountain, hospital; Mary Ernest Norris, social; Mary Lou Smalley, pianist; and Marie Parker, chorister.

Many interesting plans are being made for the year's activities.

A Delightful Hike To Sophomore Hill

Saturday afternoon, thirty-one students taking the English Normal Course, enjoyed a delightful hike to Sophomore Hill.

In arriving at the top of the hill, wood was gathered and two gypsy fires built. In addition to hot coffee and "pigs in the daret," the refreshments consisted of cold drinks, peanuts, bananas, cakes and candy.

While on top of the hill, organization of an English Normal Club was voted upon by the girls and unanimously accepted. Then, officers for the club were elected. They are as follows: President, Adrienne Wills; Vice-President, Carolyn Buns, and Secretary, Marjorie McMichael.

Annual Hike Galla Occasion

The annual hike, one of the oldest traditions of the Georgia State College for Women, sponsored by Mr. L. S. Fowler, bursar, took place Monday, October 12, with the students, faculty and their families ministers of Milledgeville and the trustees present.

At 3:30 the students left the campus and hiked to a beautiful spot in Treanor's Meadow. Along the way were stations, in charge of seniors, for serving pop corn, candies, fruits and other delicacies to the almost endless line of students. Wading in the shallow spots of the river gave an added pleasure to the greater number of students who participated. Later weiners and drinks were served.

After this, the company adjourned to a natural amphitheater and under the direction of Mary Snow Johnson and Vera Hunt, sang songs around a huge bonfire blazing in the center. The glowing fire against the waters' edge gave a picturesque scene and is thought to be, by many students, the greatest event during the hike. The stunts, presented by each class, followed as a last feature of the day. First, the senior class presented a musical wedding, which portrayed a very modernistic style for such ceremonies. Those taking part were: Hannah Forehand, bride; Mabel Underwood, bride groom; and Bobbie Burns, as preacher.

Next, the juniors gave a skit representing a large family at the station waiting for a train. Martha Shaw acting as mother, and Mary Fort as father, added laughter to the program. Elizabeth Smith was the train caller at the station. The third act was the broadcasting of W. S. B's Sunset Club, with Sue Mansfield and Christine Goodson, acting as Lou and Janet, souls o' sunshine. The entire program of the sunset club was presented in the "kiddish fashion" with each character playing his part by imitating a child performing. The songs were dedicated to members of the faculty. As the embers of the bonfire were glowing, the last number, a circus, was presented by the Freshman class. The characters included in the circus were Emilene Noa, representing the fat woman; Margaret Edwards, Magician; Elizabeth Calhoun, Hula Girl, and Gwendoline Deckler, Circus Announcer. After the closing stunt, all the students departed for the campus, receiving fruit along the way.

CONTRACTS FOR 1932

SPECTRUM AWARDED

On last Friday afternoon the business managers, editor, and associate editors of the Spectrum met with Dr. Beeson and Mr. Fowler to consider bids and award the contracts for the photography, engraving, and printing of the 1932 edition of the annual.

The photography will be done by Eberhart's Studio. For a number of years Eberhart has done the photography for the Spectrum. His work in portraiture is excellent and his prices are economical.

Southwestern Photo Process Company was given the engraving contract. This firm is noted for the distinctive annuals which it puts out. Southwestern did the engraving for the 1930 "Blue Print," published by Georgia Tech, and the 1920 "Flotaco," published by the Florida State College for Women when these two annuals won first prize for being the best annuals published in the United States. Again in 1931 the company had the honor of having one of the

CORINTHIAN CONTEST

A contest was begun last week by The Corinthian staff in which the best short story, familiar essay, or poem written by a G. S. C. W. student, will be selected and printed in an early edition of the "Corinthian."

The familiar essay is to be poem 1200 to 1800 words. The short story is to range from 1800 to 2500 words. There is no length requirement for the poem. All work submitted must be original and heretofore unpublished. Manuscripts must be submitted before October 24. Judges will select the best article submitted in each division.

annuals it engraved, The Silhouette, published by the students of Agnes Scott, awarded first place.

The printing contract was awarded to Foote and Davies Company. This firm printed in 1931 the annual which won first place in the national contest, and is generally known for the high quality of work which it puts out.

TROUP COUNTY GIRLS

ORGANIZE CLUB

The Troup county girls met in Terrell parlor, Saturday, October 10, for the purpose of reorganization.

The officers elected were Elizabeth Huff, president; Mary Alice Ingram, vice-president; and Tommie Vineyard, secretary and treasurer.

The vice president of the club, Mary Alice Ingram, assisted by Tommie Vineyard, and Lucile Harvey, will serve as chairman of the social committee. A hike, the second Monday in each month, will be one of the regular features of the club.

AN EXPERIENCE

Even matrons forget occasionally—one night recently Mrs. Leila Key, matron of Terrell B and C, took the temperature of one of her girls who seemed quite ill. Surprised at the height of the girls fever, she looked at the thermometer amazed. Suddenly, a look of amusement chased away the fright and she exclaimed, "I forgot to shake down the mercury!"

Pike County Girls At G.S.C.W. Organize

On October 10, the ten Pike county students at the Georgia State College for Women, organized the Pike County Club. The following officers were elected: Mary Ernest Norris, president; Hattie Carter, vice-president; Nelle Pilkenton, secretary-treasurer and reporter. The club will meet regularly every two weeks.

Pike county is represented on the campus by an active group of girls. Grace Banks, of Zebulon, Mrs. Grace HaHrtley Samples, of Meansville; and Mary Ernest Norris, of Meansville, are seniors. Marie Cauten, of Meansville; Hilda Hamlet, of Molena; and Nelle Pilkenton, of Molena, represent the junior class. Hattie Carter, of Meansville, represents the sophomore class. The freshman class has three representatives: Lula Belle Glover, of Zebulon; Marie Mathews, of Meansville; and Eva Nelson, of Meansville.

Corinthian Staff Re-organized

The Corinthian Staff of Georgia State College for Women met Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of reorganization. Plans were discussed for a November issue of the magazine and suggestions were made for bringing the Corinthian to the attention of the student body. The officers of the staff some of whom were elected last spring are: Editor-in-Chief—Dorothy Lipham; Associate Editors—Margaret Rucker, Sara Linda Morgan; Alumnae Editor—Helen Barron; Exchange Editor—Anne Pfeiffer; Business Manager—Helen Southwell; Assistant Business Manager—Lillian Ledbetter; Circulation Managers—Marion Keith, Mary Givens, Margaret K. Smith.

The Education Club G.S.C.W. Meets

The Education Club of Georgia State College for Women held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. Plans were discussed for the club's sponsoring a program during education week. Programs were assigned to different departments of the college. Following business discussions a program, with Miss Martha Weaver as chairman, was rendered presenting the seven cardinal principles of education. Miss Earnest Norris discussed "Health"; Miss Martha Weaver spoke on "Wise use of leisure time"; Miss Elizabeth McElroy discussed "Command of Fundamental Processes"; Miss Lavonia Newman, "Worthy Home Membership"; Miss Bennice Johnston, "Vocation"; Miss Josephine Pritchett, "Civic Education"; Miss Lucile McDaniel, "Ethical characters." The next meeting was called for the second Tuesday in November.

"Cross the Campus"

By Phillip Space

Hello Folks! Hows the depression. Heard it had lifted a little on the North East corner of the campus. Speaking of depressions, seems' as if everybody from Hoover up has been blamed for this one, except Will Rogers and Dr. McGee. But of course they've got to save somebody for last. Money's scarce all right, but why all the kick about it now? Somebody said 'twould help the situation considerably' if we'd keep our money circulating—well in a case like that you can't blame me. I spent my last nickle this afternoon. Tried to borrow another from Dot Austin but she's saving hers to buy a violin.—Speaking of violins—well, ask Miss Doris!

The annual hike was a big success. Had to be with thirteen hundred girls. And did you see that line? Why when they crossed the bridge I knew it was going to cave in. Wasn't anyone in step but Ruth Robinson and she "broke" while crossing, so guess that saved the bridge. Got worried about the bananas when we got to the hay field and there weren't any. But everybody was right pepped up when Dr. White skipped across the grass.—Say, did you hear about Mary Snow Johnson? She's turned journalist. What will she do next? Wonder what Margarite Arthur's latest poem is? And while I'm asking questions—Where did Alice Lee McCormick learn all that History?!

And here's another good one—did you know that Ennis Hall is getting economical Yes! Really. They're planting Tomatoes in the flower boxes. If you don't believe it just go over and look in the urn on the right side of the steps going up. (not the urn going up) However, the tomatoes are getting pretty high.

What colors make green and where does light go when it goes out? Ask Liz Cowart. How high is up and what's a parrot got to do with a newspaper? Maybe Dr. Webber could help out on that one. Why sit in the dark? Cause the lights are out. (Page Miss Reamy) When is Christmas and why weren't we born educated? What time is it? Oh, Bed time! Well, so long folks. Au revoir (and for the pronunciation of that I refer you to Miss Louise Smith!)

Hopefully yours,
PHILLIP SPACE.

A PURPOSE

Everybody who hopes to amount to something in life must have an aim and a purpose. What is yours? What is your reason for being? Why are you trying to decide these questions, let the staff of the Colonnade present to you the purpose of The Colonnade.

The staff is aware of the fact that this paper isn't all that it should be, but it does recognize the fact that it represents a part of the college and therefore should be a part of every member of G. S. C. W. We are devoted to the idea that a college newspaper is an essential to every campus and we believe that it is appreciated by all the readers.

We beg of you to remember that the staff is also burdened with other tasks and studies, and we want each and every member of the student body, faculty, and alumnae to do his part in seeing that The Colonnade gets sufficient material to keep up its purpose—a real college newspaper. Help us in our purpose.

It is therefore our purpose to present in the clearest and most attractive possible way, all news and activities taking place around us, bits of humor and features.

IN APPRECIATION

On Monday last, there was a change in the usual routine of college life here on the campus. Every student was a guest of the college at the "annual hike." For years this has been an established custom, and now, as a tradition, it has won a place deep in the hearts of every college member. Every member appreciates the effort of those who made it possible, and we wish to extend our deepest admiration to them.

Since our return to school, every student has noticed with joy the improvements made during the summer. Every effort was made to make the dormitories more pleasant, more attractive. Screens, have been put in, the floors have been painted, and all the furniture revarnished. And now that we have had so much done for us, won't we as a body give something in return? Let us put into life all the things we're getting, and do something with our opportunities. Get out of the ruts of college. Line your appreciation.

PLAYING THE GAME

Naturally, being modern girls, we cannot speak from the experience of our grandmothers, but during our short lives, we have visioned the better type of young lady.

She is a lady, anytime, all the time, anywhere. She is above all desire for show, display, vulgarity, conspicuousness. She is kind and obedient, quiet and orderly and intelligent. Yes, she is intelligent, and being intelligent respects the rights and opinions of others.

No although we have not the age and wisdom of our grandmothers, we are the most qualified of judges, we are aware of the girl who willfully disregards all rules and regulations, who fails to show appreciation for the privileges granted, and insists on being anything but the young lady this college seeks to educate. Let's have little more sincerity and a little more responsibility where the individual is concerned, and G. S. C. W. will think a lot more of you—and that's where you are at present.

HEALTH PLEA

A plea for the teachers of Georgia to cooperate with the National Health Association was made by Miss Louise Strachan, director of the Child Welfare Division of the National Tuberculosis Association, at the college auditorium during chapel exercises recently.

Miss Strachan was here on business for the national publication of Tuberculosis Association in collaboration with Mrs. H. S. Wooten, a member of the same staff and head of the Health Department.

HIKES TAKEN BY DR. MEADOWS' BIBLE STUDY CLASS

The members of Dr. Meadows' Bible study class have been enjoying the weekly hikes to the utmost, and all the girls who have been going on these hikes are always ready for another.

The first week after the class was organized, a hike was planned and on the following Monday afternoon, the members left for an interesting stroll.

We went to the country club and on the way, we made a "convenient" detour by the river bank and this path carried us through a stretch of woods and before we knew it, we were at the club house. Then we rested awhile. Then on the way back, we found a little store which was a welcome to all, who were ready for refreshments and you can imagine how delightful. "Tom's toastah peanut's and orange cruse" is on an occasion like this.

After refreshments were eaten we were homeward bound. However, on the way back we had plenty of time to detour and see some interesting places in Milledgeville.

Yes! we had a delightful walk, saw plenty and had a lot of good exercise.

Our next hike was an interesting one indeed.

This time we went to the Asylum, and after an enjoyable walk out there, we were surprised as well as pleased to have the opportunity of going through one of the wards. We were carried through by one of the officials of the institution. This was a new and interesting expedition for us.

On our way back home we had a lot to think about, and to be thankful for.

We feel as if our hikes are always beneficial and always enjoyed. Our Bible study class is a A-1 class and one that we are proud of. We have a teacher who is very Interesting Items on The Activities of the Y. W. C. A.

The members of the student body and faculty were fortunate in having Mr. John Minter, who is the student volunteer secretary, to speak Tuesday at chapel.

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet enjoyed Mr. Minter speaking to them Tuesday, at the usual cabinet meeting. Mr. Minter gave ideas as to what other men and women were doing with religious work, also told of a convention that is to be held at Buffalo, New York. The Christian World Education group were fortunate to meet with Mr. Minter and plans were made for the program for the year. His suggestions were good and his influence to the entire

All the girls who are not in a Bible study class should be in one. Be sure to join one now, and remember, always that you all are welcome to our class.

ENGLISH FACULTY ENTERTAINS

The English faculty including Dr. Hunter, Miss Crowell, Miss Scott, Miss Steele, Miss Smith and Miss Legg will be hosts and hostesses to the English one students Monday afternoon, October 19, in the large gymnasium and the tea room. The guests of honor are Dr. and Mrs. Beeson, Dean and Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Wynn.

The program has been prepared by Miss Crowell with the assistance of the members of the Literary Guild. There will be selections of music throughout the afternoon and a short play.

The reception will continue from 4:00 until 6:00—the students of the first hour and the others later. Refreshments will be served in the tea room.

Those that have been attending vespers have heard some inspiring messages from our own faculty members. Dr. Webber talked Sunday night October 11th on "Use of Material Possessions as a Minor of Personality." Dr. Wynn talked Sunday night October 18th on "Christ the Need of the World To-day."

Both messages were enjoyed, and every one is always welcomed at these services.

G. S. C. W. For The Alumnae

THE ALUMNAE For G. S. C. W.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT 1930-31

To the Alumnae of the Georgia State College for Women:

In annual meetings assembled, the two years of my service as President of the Alumnae Association have passed. The work which I have attempted to do has been of great personal value to me. It has however, been only a morsel when compared to the work of other Presidents in relation of value to the Association.

This year we have striven above all things to get our files and records into order. Dr. Beeson gave us a filing cabinet and in this we have made four major files. Three of these files are completed. The fourth is about half done. When they are completed, there will be 25,000 cards in the files.

1. The first file is an alphabetical file of all the graduates of the college so that a name may be traced alphabetically without referring to year, location, or marriage.

2. The second file is in anticipation of the next bulletin. It is arranged by class from 1892 through 1931.

3. The third file bears the married name of the graduate first. There are 2,312 cards in this third file.

4. The fourth and the last one to be added to the four master files, is the one in which each graduate is listed under the district and county in which she lives.

It was an enormous piece of work to trace each graduate in to her respective district and county. This last file is about half done. There still remains a rather frightening task of transferring the district and county of each graduate to each card in the other three files. This task I am going to ask to be allowed to complete.

There are also about 175 corrections to be made in all four files. We have found that working at top speed, it takes an hour to make twelve corrections and it takes two people to do this; one at the files and one at the typewriter. We feel, however, that it will be so much easier to keep up with the changing names of our graduates when this system is completed and in efficient operation.

I feel justified in having put the major part of my efforts on this work during the year.

Beside this work, we have sent out the Alumnae Bulletin. We have edited a page in the Colonnade each issue. We have a page in the Spectrum. We have kept the Tea Room open one day a week during the year. We have entertained the Class Officers, the Senior Class, and we have held a dinner at the C. E. A. in March. Two representatives of the Alumnae Association, Miss Mary Brooks and Miss Katherine Scott, attended the regional conference at the Alumni Council in Birmingham in January. Mrs. Charles Davis (Olive Bell Davis) represented the College at the National Alumnae meeting in Atlanta, April 18. Dr. Beeson representing the college, has helped the work of the Alumnae in many ways.

The college has helped financially in the following ways:

1. Paid three part-time secretaries during the year to help with the files of the Alumnae.
2. Furnished stamps, stationary, stencils, cards, and a file for the list of graduates.
3. Paid expenses of the delegate to the Alumnae Council.
5. Paid the Colonnade for a page in each issue in the paper.
6. Paid the Spectrum for the two pages in the Spectrum.
7. Paid for the Senior Class party.
8. Paid for the annual banquet.

The work for the future is as follows:

1. That the Association strive to establish itself financially.
2. That, as soon as possible, there be established a project of some kind in which all of the State clubs can have a definite part.
3. That the time for class reunions at the Commencement season be worked out for regular intervals of every four or five years and this time be stressed while the students are on the campus.
4. That the Association work toward having an Alumnae Secretary in order to make our organization stronger.
5. That a representative of the Association be sent to the meetings of the Regional and America Alumni Council.
6. That the Association continues to sponsor the college tea room one afternoon a week.
7. That each Alumna keep in close contact with the college by knowing the faculty, their ideas and ideals; by studying the catalog; by learning the standing of the college in relation to other institutions; by recommending the best high school graduates for admission to the college; by keeping up with the needs of the college and how these needs are met by the legislature; by taking and selling G. S. C. W.; and by visiting G. S. C. W.

SHORT ITEMS OF INTEREST

The Educational Museum for the Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, recently received from the Salvation Army of Columbus a collection of telegrams dated back to 1848. Six of those received by the museum were addressed to David Griffin, who, in 1848, was president of the Washington and New Orleans Magnetic Telegraph Company. This collection was obtained by Miss Frances Ray of Columbus, a student of the college through the influence of Major Figgers. It is interesting to know that the ink on some of these seventy-five year old telegrams is still undimmed.

The Park's Memorial Sunday School Class instructed by Dr. George Harris Webber, entertained last Saturday afternoon with a social in Ennis hall recreation room. The following program was given: A tap dance by Miss Ruth Moore; recitation by Miss Marion Hembrie; dance by Miss Dot Smith; piano solo by Miss Viola Caruth, and other piano music by Miss Alice Lee McComick. Games were enjoyed after which a delightful sandwich course was served. The guest list numbered forty.

The Commerce Club of the Georgia State College for Women was re-organized recently by the election of the following officers: Miss Josephine Prickett, Griffin, president; Miss Lavonia Newman, Brunswick, Vice-President; Miss Nelle Pilkenton, Molena, secretary; Miss Virginia Watts Waycross, treasurer; Miss Edna Bilderback, Gray, chairman of social committee; Miss Rose Dunn, Dublin, chairman of publicity committee; and Miss Lillian Jordan, Dania, Florida, chairman of membership committee. Miss Florence Barnett, head of the Stenography and Typewriting Department, is the faculty advisor.

One freshman at the Georgia State College for Women of Milledgeville was certainly disappointed recently when she discovered that she was scheduled for sight singing rather than sight seeing.

When an upper classman attempted to assist a lonely freshman arrange her schedule, the "big sister" said, "Now, you go to sight singing next period."

The freshman exclaimed, "Sight singing, why, I thought S. S. stood for sight seeing!"

HEALTH CLUB NEWS

Miss Louise Strachan was a recent visitor to the G. S. C. W. Campus Miss Strachan is the Director of Childs Health Education, National Tuberculosis Association.

Miss Strachan talked in chapel, about England's care of tuberculosis, showing how citizens are trained to carry on health program in English schools.

Mrs. H. S. Wooten attended the South eastern Tuberculosis Association Conference at the Atlanta Biltmore on October 9th. She talked on the subject of the First College Hygiene Conference at Syracuse, which she attended last May.

Mrs. Wooten went to Eatonton, Wednesday, October 14 to talk at a Parent-Teacher Association meeting.

The Health Club held its first meeting of the New Semester on October 3rd in Mrs. Wootens lecture room. Mary Rogers was elected president of the Health Club for the coming year.

THERE WAS A FRESHMAN

There was a freshman who went to chapel on Thursday morning and could not understand all the vacant seats in the balcony.

There was a freshman who went to the library and proceeded to leave without signing out. When the library assistant yelled, "you have to check out!"

The freshman replied, "That's what I'm doing."

There was a group of freshmen who sat at the matron's table and ate the food and drank the water.

There was a freshman who went to the show and sat in the balcony. Some of the wise upper classmen informed her that she didn't have to pay to sit in the balcony. She dashed down the stairs to get her money back.

There was freshman who sat out on the campus until after lights.

There was a freshman who thought the light bell was the matron's private door bell and proceeded to ring it.

There was a freshman who attempted to nominate some one in a large assembly. The last name slipped her memory.

There's many a charming freshman With open mind and features nice, But there was never a freshman Who went on duty wice.

A regular Saturday night feature is the picture shown in the college auditorium Saturday night, October 24 the second among ten of the best pictures of 1930-31 will be shown. The wonder picture of the century, Walter Houston and Una Merkel playing in "Abraham Lincoln." There will be many other of your favorite stars to show you some real acting in this educational picture.

The Chemistry majors and minors of Georgia State College for Women met Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of reorganization of the chemistry club. Temporary officers were appointed and Saturday night at 7:00 o'clock, October 17, was set for the next meeting when permanent officers shall be elected and the membership roll re-written.

QUEER PEOPLE

A person is a funny thing He's queer as he can be, He travels north and south and east To see what he can see.

He goes across the country To view a waterfall And journeys half around the world To reach the Taj Mahal.

He glories in a city Where he's never been before He travels to the ocean To try to see some more.

And all the while he's travelling To see the famous scenes Back home is found a lovely spot Like no place he has been.

Not far away an elm tree It's plumey branches lifts And forms a mass of lacy leaves Thru which the sunshine sifts.

There is a still, quiet loveliness —A rustic beauty, too, —A grey stone wall and Holy-hocks —A tree, a sky of blue.

Yet the owner of this picture Is away this year they say, He's traveling in Canada To see the Hudson bay.

He travels north and east and west

Music in Russia

"The elite in Russia require policemen in attendance at their musical recitals to keep one fond son's mother from tearing the hair of another son's mother in her effort to prove that son number 1 played more beautifully than son number two," said Miss Beatrice Horsbrugh in a recent interview.

"Isn't it cute that they are that much interested in music?" Miss Horsbrugh queried happily. Why, when I was studying violin under the famous Leopold Auer before the World War we looked forward with the most intense dread to the recitals at which our nearest friends were the only audience. Despite this fact they were the most delightful experiences we had."

With a twinkle in her bright eye she spoke of the coldest season of the Russian year and explained how they turn day into night since it is light but three hours in the twenty-four "it is customary," she continued, "to stay in bed in the morning until around eleven o'clock and to return from an evening's musical entertainment after two o'clock the following morning, borne along through the heavy snow in a small sleigh with warm furs drawn tightly up under red noses and half-numbed ears."

When asked her opinion as to the probable outcome of the religious situation in Russia, Miss Horsbrugh laughingly tilted back her Titian head and replied knowingly, "Religion is too much a part of the Russian people for them to give it up entirely. Why I remember the most elaborate religious ceremony I attended. It was Easter and before leaving home I was warned by my friends not to appear shocked if any gentleman who might be standing next to me should turn and embrace me. It happened all right and I endured it exceedingly well.

"They do many extraordinary things, but I could not think of going back there now until all the disturbances are settled."
